Mrs. Marjorie B. Harte

Assistant Chief of Adult Services
Evansville-Vanderburgh County Library

The self-service, library book deposit collection in a supermarket grocery store is not new. At least ten years ago it was successfully used by Stewart W. Smith in Lincoln, Nebraska, and it is also found in Nashville, Tennessee, and in St. Louis County, Missouri. The plans for such a service in Evansville were begun by O. H. Joerg, while he was Assistant Chief Librarian here. Mr. Joerg left to go to Youngstown, Ohio, in September, 1957.

The Booketeria of the Evansville Public Library has proved to be one of the most successful and rewarding projects undertaken recently by the Library. Each day brings a comment from some user on what a fine service it is, and as the circulation continues to increase we realize this service is being used.

Hub of Activity

We were extremely fortunate in securing a location in Evansville's largest shopping center which is in the heart of the most rapidly growing section of the city. We are located in one of the largest and most modern supermarkets—Wesselman's in Lawndale, Inc. As you enter the store you first see and pass the Bakery Department and then the Library has the next fifteen feet of wall space. We have shelf room for almost 1000 books, plus a large book return box. The lighted plastic canopy, over the top of the shelves is an added bit of advertising, for one can not fail to see the large letters spelling "BOOKETERIA" and the smaller words reading "Evansville Public Library." The Library paid for the shelving, signs, and book return box. For the strategic spot in the store we pay no rent, due to the civic-mindedness of Sen. A. W. Wesselman. We are sincerely grateful for his generosity.

Books Selected

We began building our basic collection early in the summer anticipating an October opening. The 1400 books we accumulated were made up mainly of older titles from our Adult and Juvenile Book Pools, and some recent gifts—all in plasti-kleer jackets. "Lawndale" was given first choice of all gift books. In late September we began ordering new books. Since that time we have been adding about 25 new adult books each month and we have had to increase the number of older titles, so that at the end of January we had 1782 adult books in the collection. We have not added to the 677 juvenile books.

The adult books are on the upper shelves and the children's books are on the bottom two shelves. Neither collection is arranged in any particular order, thus making browsing easier. We have found from experience that people enjoy helping themselves. The first few days of opening we had a staff member there all day to explain the service and to help in any way. The people seemed shy and reluctant to stop, browse, or take anything out. But from observing outside the store and from the comments of the clerks, we learned that people enjoyed investigating and selecting on their own.

Scene of Supermarket Self-Service

Since a booketeria is a self-service library, it operates completely on the honor system. At "Lawndale" when the reader has made his selection, he writes his name and address on each book card and drops the cards in a box marked "Cards." All books circulate for four weeks. For the convenience of the reader we have a "date due" slip in the book where he can write any date that will help him remember when the book should be returned.

About four times a week these book cards, along with the books that have been returned, are picked up and brought in to the Central Library. There they are stamped with the current date, but all the cards for 2 weeks are filed together. With a twice-a-month due date there are only two dates each month, and slipping is speeded up.

When the books are returned by the reader, they are simply dropped in the slot of the return box in the center of the Booketeria. It has been suggested that all cards be kept at the Booketeria and the books be slipped there. We feel the books can be slipped more rapidly and with less chance of error if it is done at the Library. They are slipped at night and go back each time a trip is made to "Lawndale." They are also checked for mending. Overdue notices are also written, but there are no overdue fines.

The opening date of the supermarket turned out to be the first week in December. One fifteen-minute radio broadcast was devoted to the Booketeria, and a flyer was prepared for distribution at Lawndale. That first week 136 persons took out 272 books. Of those 136 persons, 80 were not registered borrowers. We wrote each of them a letter explaining our other services and enclosed an identification card. As the

STUDENT LIBRARIANS WORKSHOP

The fifth workshop for student library assistants will be held at Indiana University July 20-26. Each public library is entitled to send two representatives and alumni of previous workshops. Application forms may be secured from the Division of Library Science, Indiana University, and should be returned before May 1. Total charges will be $30 and a $10 deposit is required with each application.

District Meetings Scheduled

The general theme of the 1958 I.L.A.—I.L.T.A. district meetings is to be "Getting Under Way." This year there is to be more emphasis on membership participation in the planning and programming of the district meetings.

The membership of I.L.A. and I.L.T.A. expressed a felt need during the Fall conference for more membership responsibility in determining the type of program to be used in each district.

The dates and locations of the meetings are these: District I, Logansport, May 15; District II, Warsaw, May 13; District III, Williamsport, May 21, and Indianapolis, May 22; District IV, Noblesville, May 20; District V, Washington, April 30; District VI, New Albany, April 28.

It is expected that each district will make an evaluation of National Library Week in regard to the manner in which it was observed in that district.

The officers of each district meeting and the host librarian are as follows: District I, Russell Dilts, Winamac trustee, chairman; Edward Hayward, Hammond, vice-chairman; Velma Bright, Akron, secretary; Mary A. Holmes, hostess; District II, James W. Sloan, Warsaw, chairman; Mrs. E. J. Jones, Wabash trustee, vice-chairman; Mary Grigsby, Ligonier, secretary; James W. Sloan, host; District III, Robert McClarren, Crawfordsville, chairman; Willet R. Parr, Jr., Lebanon trustee, vice-chairman; Mrs. Edith Miller, Linden, secretary; Harold J. Sander, host at Indianapolis; Mrs. Ruth D. Cowgill, hostess at Williamsport; District IV, Leon Jones, Muncie,

TRUSTEE CITATION

The Trustee Citation Committee of the Indiana Library Association wishes to remind all Indiana librarians that it is their privilege to nominate trustees for this honor any time before September 1, 1958. According to the plan adopted by I.L.A., the committee must take into consideration library activities in the state, as well as service to the local libraries. Citations are limited to trustees who are members of the Indiana Library Trustees Association and who are in actual service on an Indiana Library board during, at least, a part of the calendar year preceding the time the award is made.

Recommendations may be sent to any member of the committee on forms which may be procured from the chairman. If you have a trustee who can qualify, please send the name to the committee as soon as possible. Members of the committee are as follows: Edna Holden, Logansport, chairman; Bertha Heller, Decatur; Marie Stouder, Goshen.

Current Additions for an Indiana Collection

Some Books and Pamphlets about Indiana or by Hoosier Authors.
Compiled by HAZEL W. HOPPER, Indiana Division, State Library

BARKER, MYRTIE. Parade of Days. 1957.
94p. Mitchell-Fleming, Greenfield,
$2.50.

These articles are adapted from Miss Barker's column, "My Window," which appears three days a week in the Indianapolis News. The articles chosen for inclusion in the book were the ones which brought the most reader response or letters to the author. They are heart warming articles of human interest, of life, family and of nature.

CLYMER, FLOYD. Indianapolis 500 Mile Race. Official 1956 Yearbook. 1957.
112p. Floyd Clymer, Los Angeles,
$1.50.

This is the story of the 1956 Indianapolis Motor Speedway race, the statistics, and information about the drivers and the cars. These official yearbooks appear as a supplement to Mr. Clymer's book, Indianapolis, 500 Mile Race History, published in 1946.

CROWDER, RICHARD. Those Innocent Years. 1957. 288p. Bobbs, $4.50.

The subtitle of this book is "The Legacy and Inheritance of a Hero of the Victorian Era, James Whitcomb Riley." Dr. Crowder says "Riley was the last sweet singer of the Victorian Age, the last poet of that optimistic time before great war and great depression pressed home the harsh realities of the world." The author places Riley against the background of his time—"the big gingerbread houses, the wide verandas, the quiet, tree-lined streets, the almost too-comfortable Sunday dinners of the Midwest." Dr. Crowder is in the English department at Purdue University.

GIBSON, KATHARINE. Tall Book of Bible Stories. Illustrated by Ted Chaiko.
1957. 124p. Harper, $1.95.

This is a very attractive book of Bible stories for children as retold by Katharine Gibson. There are over a hundred pictures in the book, mostly in full color.

MCAVOY, THOMAS T. Great Crisis in American Catholic History, 1895-1900. 1957. 402p. Regnery, $6.00.

During the period of 1895 to 1900 a grave crisis threatened the Catholic Church in the United States. One faction advocated Catholic leadership in American social and political thought, while the "conservative" group objected to what they called the Americanization of the church. Father McAvoy is head of the History Department at the University of Notre Dame and he has gathered together letters, newspapers and ecclesiastical documents to tell the complete story of the controversy.

MCCUTCHAN, ROBERT GUY. Hymn Tune Names. Their Sources and Significance. 1957. 206p. Abingdon, $3.75.

This is a reference book presenting, in non-technical style, the authentic background information on some 2,000 hymn tunes. The body of the book is an alphabetical list of tunes. There is a melodies index and an index by first words of hymns which makes the book very usable as a reference aid. The author is dean emeritus of the School of Music at DePauw University.

MARTIN, JOHN BARTLOW. Deep South Says Never. 1957. 181p. Ballantine, $2.50. Paper, 35 cents.

Here is a straightforward discussion of the question of integration in the South. John Martin travelled extensively throughout the Southern states and talked with many citizens and leaders. Here he gives a report of the situation as he saw it. He discusses many questions involved in the controversy, giving both sides of the argument. Mr. Martin grew up in Indianapolis and was educated at DePauw.

MASON, MIRIAM E. Katie Kittenheart. Illustrated by Charles Geer. 1957.
131p. Macmillan, $2.50.

Katie went to visit Grandma Buckley in Kentucky during the year her parents were in Arabia. When the Social Science class started on its big trip to the city, Katie remembered that her kitten was shut in the oven at home, so she tramped home through rain and mud in her best clothes to rescue the poor thing. When the rain washed out the waterworks lake, and the schoolhouse was surrounded by water, Katie became a real heroine, complete with her picture in the paper.

TARKINGTON, BOOTH. Gentleman from Indianapolis. A Treasury of Booth Tarkington. Edited by John Bee-croft. Illustrated by John Alan Maxwell. 1957. 732p. Doubleday, $3.95.

Included in this collection of Tarkington works are his Pulitzer Prize winning novels, Alice Adams, The Magnificent Ambersons, and his O'Henry Prize Award short stories, "The One Hundred Dollar Bill" and "Stella Crozier." Penrod, the novel about boyhood, is also included along with several other short stories and excerpts from other novels. All of the selections have Indiana settings.

THORNBROUGH, GAYLE, EDITOR. Outpost on the Wabash, 1787-1791. 1957. 305p. Indiana Historical Society, $2.00.

The years immediately following the Revolutionary War were filled with unrest in the area which became the Old Northwest Territory. Virginia ceded her claims to the land to the United States in 1783 and in 1787 Congress passed an ordinance providing for the government of the territory. However it was 1790 before the Secretary of the Territory arrived in Vincennes to establish the civil authority of the United States. Lt. Colonel Josiah Harmar was ordered to Vincennes in 1787 by Congress to dispossess the men who had taken command there illegally. He established a garrison there under the command of Major John Francis Hamtramck. The publication consists of letters and documents from the Harmar papers, William L. Clements Library, University of Michigan. They begin when Harmar is preparing to go to Vincennes, and consist mainly of the correspondence between Harmar and Hamtramck. They show the difficulties encountered in the outposts along the Wabash, the difficulties of getting supplies and of communication and the weakness of the new federal government.

YELLEN, SAMUEL. Passionate Shepherd. 1957. 244p. Knopf, $3.50.

These ten short stories were previously published in magazines. Each story is skillfully written with an interesting and imaginative plot. There is a similarity in the themes of the stories which deal with the weakness, frustration and defeatism in the characters portrayed. The author is known primarily as a poet and his technique shows poetic vision and interpretation. Mr. Yellen is Professor of English at Indiana University.

YOUNG, STANLEY. Tippecanoe and Tyler, Too. Illustrated by Warren Chappell. 1957. 177p. Random House, $1.95.

Here is the stirring story of William Henry Harrison, Indian fighter and Governor of Indiana Territory. Harrison was elected ninth President of the United States in one of the wildest, loudest, and most colorful campaigns the country has ever seen. "Tippecanoe and Tyler, Too" was the rallying cry of the campaign. The book is for children.

circulation increased we could not continue this project. For the month of December our circulation was 856. It almost doubled in January with 1626. Fifty-five percent of the books circulating are adult. Of the almost 2500 transactions, we have had only 6 cards that were not filled out correctly and not one card signed by "Rock Hudson" or "Marilyn Monroe." It is a little early to study overdues, but of the first 11 reminders that were sent out, 6 returned their books within 2 days after the notice had been received. The people apparently appreciate and respect the confidence we have placed in them.

While the Booketeria is only a book distribution point and not a service point, it is also another means of advertising the Library. It is a collection of books that is in one spot from 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. six days a week. Every time a person has to get a loaf of bread or a stick of butter he

STATE LEADERS SUPPORT N.L.W.

The Indiana Citizens Committee for National Library Week included many outstanding leaders in various fields throughout the state. Many of these prominent citizens made statements regarding the value of reading and the importance of libraries. One of these, by President Byron K. Trippet of Wabash College, well exemplifies the thought expressed in these significant statements.

"If someone should propose that all the books in our libraries be burned, there would undoubtedly be an immediate protest from the American public to prevent such an atrocious act. It is worth reflecting, however, that the burning of books is not the only way the citizens of a country like ours can lose the value of the books their country has accumulated. They can simply leave them untouched and unread on the library shelves for a generation or two.

"The libraries of America house a magnificent collection of knowledge for all Americans. The value of this collection depends not on the number of volumes accumulated but the use to which they are put. It is well, therefore, that now and then we remind ourselves, as we do in National Library Week, of the reading opportunities which our libraries provide for us and resolve to enlarge our use of those opportunities. There has never been a time in our history when libraries could serve the public interest as much as they can at the present moment."

goes to the Library. And the process works in reverse—every time a reader goes to the Library he has to go to the supermarket. We like our first Booketeria and we're looking forward to more.
